How to attract and retain the new breed of leaders for a highly uncertain future

Audience: HR Managers, HR
Specialists, Line Managers,
Team Leaders

Summary

In today's volatile and unpredictable environment, we are questioning ourselves on our teams' readiness for the path ahead.

Given the goal of identifying future leaders and mobilizing them to optimal roles, we need to answer "Who are best equipped to thrive in a digital and remote working environment?"

How can we identify and select leaders for the future when the future is so uncertain? How do we engage and retain young people, considering they are now able to work remotely for organizations all around the world? How do we win in a Global Battle for Young Talent?

During this session, we'll focus on organizations' current and near business challenges and how young talent can help overcome them. We'll advocate on enabling flexibility yet precision when preparing for the unique talent challenges ahead of us.
